

In the Galaxy of Blouses

THERE is a considerable diversity of style in blouses this spring, but an actual count in almost any display will reveal the tie-back models and the straight-line models predominating. In materials georgette and crepe-de-chine are in the lead, but there are hosts of lingerie blouses to dispute position with them. The latter have a place in the summer wardrobe not to be disturbed by any newcomers. There are some new and very attractive trimming features to be noted in the spring style points—two or three of them embodied in the two stars in the galaxy of blouses for spring that are pictured here.

A crepe de chine model appears at the right of the two with the favored medium for embellishing this fabric shown in the eyelet embroidery that comes so near to covering it. There is a pleasing tide of favor for this sort of embroidery on both blouses and dresses. Two other novelties in decoration find themselves well placed in this model—the unusual small rings about the waist line, for supporting the narrow ribbon girdle and the tassels that finish the bottom. Many blouses indulge in a few handsome tassels, but this one makes prodigal use of them; they are placed so close together that they have the effect of lengthening the bodice. The dainty blouse at the left makes use of two colors in georgette, a dark shade for the body and a light color for a border at neck, sleeves and bodice. Needlework and flower motifs in silk floss repeat the colors in the blouse. The narrow ribbon girdle slips through four tabs, two at the front and two at the back, which are merely extensions of the border decorated with embroidered flowers. The girdle ties in a little bow at the side.

An interesting and pretty decoration in late arrivals among blouses appears in patent leather, which is cut out to represent grapes, acorns, cherries, etc. They are set in foliage embroidered with silk floss matching the blouse in color. Girdles are not always simple—decorations of this kind are often placed on them, or narrow plaited trills or embroideries.

SAMOA PATTERNS LAWS AFTER U. S.

(By Associated Press)
PAGO PAGO, American Samoa, April 2.—A new code of laws based on American statutes has been developed in American Samoa from the disturbances of last year which culminated in the suicide of the governor, Commander Warren J. Terhune.

The revised laws, drawn by Captain Waldo Evans, the new governor, and Judge A. M. Noble, and submitted to the native chiefs, mark an interesting change from the early laws provided for the Samoans.

When in 1900 the first secretary of native affairs, Judge Gurr, asked the native rulers of the Samoan villages to submit laws to him for recommendation to the first governor, he received from various villages a copy of the 10 commandments of the Bible. This accompanied with the suggestion that penalties for their violation should consist of a fine in the shape of a hog and a barrel of beef.

These recommendations were not adopted in whole, for such penalties would have resulted in every offense paying the way for a feast in the village. This, officials decided, would prove too much of a temptation for the natives.

It is the custom of the Samoans, and was then, that when any offense is complained of and the offender not known, for the native pastor, or native magistrate, to compel each person in the village to declare his or her innocence by oath on the Bible.

On one occasion some church money was stolen from the box of a Samoan pastor, where it had been placed for safe-keeping. The native pastor immediately went from house to house with a Bible, swearing in every inmate, but everyone declared innocence. He, however, forgot to take the oath himself, and the theft remained a mystery.

Some years afterward the pastor became seriously ill and his relatives were called together. Having made certain that they were all in a forgiving mood, he then confessed that he was the culprit. Under the circumstances his people felt they could not but forgive him. Thereupon it was astounding how rapid was his recovery.

Sometimes the jay-walker has his career cut short when he tries a short cut.

The interests of the nation seem to lie in getting a few more public enemies in prison before letting any out.

CALL ON LEGION TO CONTRIBUTE

(By Associated Press)
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 2.—A call for all members of the American Legion to contribute 10 cents to a Memorial day fund for the decoration of American graves overseas was sent out yesterday in a bulletin from national headquarters of the Legion here.

A majority of the bodies of Americans killed in the world war have been returned to America, but "thousands of our comrades still sleep on foreign soil in compliance with the desire of relatives that they rest forever where they fell," the Legion bulletin says. "Few of the relatives of the fallen can go to Europe to lay a memorial wreath on the grave of the dear departed. As last year, the American Legion will perform this sacred service."

There will be instances in which relatives will wish to contribute expressly for a particular grave, wishing an individual scheme of decoration carried out, the bulletin says. Legionnaires are charged with transmitting such requests to the memorial committees, through national headquarters, that every desire of the bereaved families may be complied with.

Last Memorial day the American Legion decorated 75,000 graves of Americans in Italy, Spain, France, Belgium, Luxembourg, and Germany.

PERFUMED FRUIT HIS LATEST

(By Associated Press)
DELAND, Fla., April 2.—Lue Gim Gong, noted horticulturist, whose estate near here is one of the show places of central Florida, has produced another remarkable variety of citrus fruit, a perfumed grapefruit which when placed in a room permeates the atmosphere with an odor unlike that of any other member of the citrus family. The horticulturist has one tree of the variety in bearing.

Lue Gim Gong is the originator of the Lue Gim Gong orange, named after its propagator, and on his estate has several trees of this variety with oranges which have been on the trees from one to three years.
